

Future – BE Going To

Practice Exercise KEY

Use the future “BE going to” form of the verb given in parentheses () to complete the sentences. Some of them are negative, so use ‘not.’ Five of them have already been done for you as examples.

I am going to go to Chicago next week. First, I (1-see) am going to see my cousin, Scot. He (2-meet) is going to meet me at the airport. He (3-take) is going to take me to his house so I can see his wife and children. We (4-watch) are going to watch old home movies from many years ago. We (5-laugh) are going to laugh, but his children are not going to think the movies are fun.

Second, I (6-attend) am going to attend a conference there. I (7-give) am going to give a presentation about my work. Many people (8-listen) are going to listen to me, but I am not going to be nervous. Other people (9-speak) are going to speak about their work too. There is going to be a party in the evening. People (10-not, sing) are not going to sing, but they (11-dance) are going to dance at the party.

Third, my friends and I (12-eat) are going to eat Chicago style pizza with lots of cheese. We (13-visit) are going to visit a museum, but we (14-not, stay) are not going to stay there very long because we (15-leave) are going to leave that day. I (16-buy) am going to buy some Italian beef sandwiches on the way to the airport. They are delicious and something special from Chicago. I (17-fly) am going to fly home and you are going to pick me up at the airport because I (18-bring) am going to bring you all of those sandwiches.
